Early Years Music Network: Songs, instruments and musical games

The latest Bolton Music Service network meeting for organisations who work with young children under the age of 5.

This is a similar event to the October meeting and is an opportunity to share ideas, explore new songs and discuss ways of using familiar musical material in Early Years and Foundation Stage settings.

We will look at ways to use music activities in different parts of your delivery. There will be a chance to try out musical games with puppets, parachutes, balls and books, and to talk through issues which impact on your ability to develop music in your practice. This network is suitable for practitioners working in nurseries, schools, children's centres, and childminders. No musical experience is necessary.

Feel free to bring your own songs, ideas and thoughts to share.

The session will be led by Sue Ridyard and Angela Caswell from Bolton Music Service and is limited to 25 places. This is a free event.

When: Tuesday 29th January 2019 6.30 – 8.30pm

Where: Bolton Music Service, Ladybridge High School, New York, Bolton BL3 4NG

Who: Nursery practitioners, Early years teachers, Community outreach teams, Childminders and Music leaders.
