High Needs Base Appeals Process Flowchart

Setting wishes to appeal High Needs

Base panel decision

At High Needs Base there is a coracy of 6 professionals who agree a panel decision during the meeting. All attendees will have read paperwork submitted for each child in conjunction with matrix criteria.

Therefore as there is already a robust decision making process there is no appeal procedure. However settings/professionals can reapply and Start Well SEND can discuss panel decisions with settings

What happens after when an application has been unsuccessful

Setting are advised of the outcome. The setting may request support in reassessing the child's needs and support in making another application if necessary.

Information submitted for High Needs Base is rematrixed to ensure the correct level of funding is allocated. This will be completed with two weeks of the panel date
