The Role of the Early Years SENCO

Description

This workshop will support SENCOs who are new to the role and would like to understand their basic responsibilities as well as those who would value an opportunity to refresh their knowledge and understanding. It is also suitable for Childminders who require SENCO training.

What will I learn?

Practitioners who attend this course will:

- Develop a clear understanding of the requirements of the Code of Practice for children with Special Educational Needs and/or Disabilities in early years;
- Have a better understanding of the Bolton pathways for SEND and how to work with targeted support services;
- Be able to adequately identify, assess and plan for children with SEND and feel confident working with parents in this area; and
- Have a better understanding of when to be concerned about children's development and how to work with outside agencies.

Please note: In order to take part in the activity, it is essential that practitioners bring along their copy of the Bolton SENCO Handbook.
